Measure 2 (Initial & Advanced): Stakeholder Involvement (R5.3, RA5.3)

EPP alumni and employers have multiple opportunities described below to be involved in program evaluation, improvement, and identification of models of excellence.

- Expert Panel Team Members provide critical input in the validity process for new rubrics. Volunteers are invited by the SOE Dean and/or appropriate program coordinator or USOE Teacher Education chair once the Validity and Reliability committee has reviewed and screened new or revised rubrics. After a minimum of three panelists' comments are collected per rubric, their rankings and feedback are reviewed and discussed by V&R committee members for clarification purposes. After questioned areas are resolved and shared with the rubric writer by the GSOE program coordinator/USOE department chair, the rubric is then referred to the administrative specialist for addition to the TaskStream/Watermark database for the impacted cohort or students.
- Mentors serve as liaison for real world leadership practices for program candidates (based on successful career experiences as building principals and district administrators) approved by the coordinator of directed-field experiences and the candidate's major advisor. Practicum supervisors (MSSE) and cooperating teachers (USOE) function similarly and are approved by the coordinator of masters' programs/USOE chair and the school/district administration. Expectations are detailed on the contract or memo of understanding drawn up between the candidate and their mentor.
 - Provides day-to-day supervision of the candidate's activities.
 - Provides feedback to the candidate regarding progress.
 - Meets with the candidate and EPP supervisor a minimum of three times.
 - Completes a written evaluation of the candidate's performance.
 - Assesses candidate's disposition in collaboration with EPP supervisor at the end of the field experience.
 - Assesses candidate completing second field experience using the Professional Skills Survey Rubric.
 - Completes electronic program improvement survey.
 - Can be contacted later for a Zoom Focus Interview Group or Survey Monkey when their candidate has become a completer one to three years later.
 - Mutually agreed over time that mentor is certified, has three years of building or administration experience, and two years of experience in current assignment.
- Council for Undergraduate Teacher Education (CUTE) members attend semester meetings for collaboration on the P-12 student education experience. Members consist of content-level and USOE faculty, USOE students and student teachers, mentor teachers, and administrators.
- Education Advisory Council Members (EAC) attend meetings for collaboration – information and input for improvement purposes. Members consist of alumni and building/district-level employers accepting an invitation by the SOE Dean to participate in regional luncheon meetings approximately two-three times per year. Examples of Information shared consists of SOE enrollment numbers by program; Program updates (cohort, enrollment, start/end dates, completers, graduates); Continuing Education enrollment; Licensure Results by each program; changes in response to previous EAC input; gather EAC participants' further improvement ideas.

- External Member on Dissertation Committee is invited by the dissertation candidate and approved by the major advisor and GSOE. This external member reviews and provides specific feedback regarding points of confusion or proofreading suggestions to the major advisor for chapters one through five following thorough review by the major advisor. The external member participates in the defense process.
- Speakers or Panelists serving as actual practitioners are frequently invited to share with program courses to share their expertise and add credible real-life experience to the course content.
 - Each spring, the Undergraduate Teacher Education program invites First Year Teachers to participate in a panel discussion to respond to questions from upcoming student teachers and any other interested School of Education candidates.
